"Amerno."
"Amerno," the Hypnotist, is performing some of the most remarkable feats ever seen.
He invites his subjects from the audience and the audience makes them go through a laughable to the extreme. "Amerno" gives the "Stone-breaking test" which is truly wonderful. He will use a woman for his subject and after getting her in a hypnotic state with her body rigid, her head resting on the back of an other chair, he will place a 300 lb. granite block on her abdomen and will invite as many in the audience who can swing a 12 lb. hammer to step upon the stage and break the stone while the lady is in this condition. "Amerno" has aroused the curiosity of the physicians as well as the general public, through his wonderful demonstrations in hypnotism, and as he changes to miss "Amerno" show, very few cases to miss "Amerno".
"Amerno" will be at Norway Opera House, Oct. 23, 24 and 25.

The case for automobile damage brought by John E. Stevens of Rumford against L. C. Bellefleur of Standish was commenced Thursday with J. B. Stevens and Judge A. E. Stearns of Rumford counsel for Stevens, and Laurence M. Sanborn of Portland counsel for Bellefleur.
The accident occurred on the 10th of July, 1910. Mr. Stevens is a dealer in automobiles and J. H. Halkett of Bridgton is agent for him. Stevens had sent a Red touring car in charge of F. A. Richards, to be shown to L. P. Knight at Naples.
Mr. Richards and his son and family and started for a ride. They took the road which led to Crockett's Hill, a road new to the men who were driving the machine. On the first pitch of the hill it was noticed that the carburetor was not working just right and the machine was run to one side and stopped.
Not stopping the engine Mr. Halkett adjusted the carburetor, at this point they say an automobile came down the curve of the hill above them, which was the defendant Bellefleur.
It came rapidly down the hill going from one side to the other as though the driver had lost control, and struck Stevens' car and two of the occupants were thrown out. Before the cars were separated several teams passed by.
The damage to the car was estimated by the plaintiff that after the accident, the machine became a damaged car and had to be sold at a reduced price.
For the defense of the case, Mr. Bellefleur, his wife, son and daughter, who were in the car at the time of the accident, described the collision. Mr. Bellefleur stated he was driving and that the collision took place at a higher point of the hill than the location fixed by the other side and which was possible to see ahead at a short distance.
It was stated that Stevens' auto was stopped at an angle of the road and directly opposite the road was a large stone which was impossible to pass over with the narrow opening between. He foot posts of the open front and gable roof type, made to be divided into three pens which will take care of two hundred sheep. There is a sample room near Mr. Wood's plans are fully-carried out, he will have a neat, sanitary poultry plant well equipped for profitable business.
No birds will be placed in the new house until spring, so in the mean time it is not impossible that other daces may be given as the floor is well waxed and just the place for gatherings of this kind.

Killed in Auto Accident.
Sunday afternoon, while Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sargent and three children of Woodville, N. H., and Mrs. Roseabel B. McIntyre and daughter Alice of Randolph, N. H., were out riding in Sargent's auto near Upper Lisbon village, the auto dashed from the road and plunged down a 20-foot embankment and Mrs. McIntyre and Mrs. Sargent were pinned under the auto. Mrs. McIntyre was instantly killed while Mr. and Mrs. Sargent and children escaped with minor injuries. Miss McIntyre was painfully injured by having one lung punctured, but is expected to recover.
Mrs. McIntyre and Alice had been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sargent, and had so far recovered that she was able to do the greater part of her own work. She repeatedly declared that she was "just as well as ever she was," but in spite of that it was noticed that she was "strongly" and at her husband's confidence that she must have been temporarily deranged when she left her home.
She went to the home of a friend, Mrs. Harry Wats, at Loudon Hill, Hallowell, and spent Sunday there. Her husband had communicated with and he went to Hallowell and brought her back to her home.
Mrs. Randall was the guest of her brother, Frank Mann, a few weeks the past summer.
An Enjoyable Event.
On Saturday Oct. 14, occurred one of the most pleasant events on record, as it was a perfect fall day.
Mrs. J. M. Abbott who lives at Horse Hill Farm, Pike Hill, was surprised to have her two children, eight grand children and eight great grand children spend the day with her. It had been many years since the family had been together.
At one o'clock twenty-nine people met in the large dining room where a bountiful dinner, furnished by the different families, was served, which was partaken of with much merriment especially when the birthday cake lighted with candles appeared, as it was the birthday of the youngest member present.
After each and everyone was full some felt like the little boy who cried because he could hold no more.
There was music on violin, organ and harmonica, and singing the little folks like were well to hear. The little folks sang their songs to grandma, and one of the party gave a eulogy.
Mrs. J. M. Abbott is in her eightieth year.
Those present were:
Mrs. Abbott.
Mr. and Mrs. Geo. G. Abbott, Highland Springs.
Mr. and Mrs. U. S. G. Abbott, Norway.
Mrs. C. P. Haak.
Mrs. C. Bradbury.
Mr. and Mrs. V. B. Marston, Rocky Dundee.
Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Abbott, Crockett Ridge.
Mrs. J. M. Abbott, family, Willow Brook Farm, Orono.
Ellis Black, Bangley Lake.
Edna S. Abbott, Waterford.
Stevens Abbott, Norway.

Drowned in Lake.
Harry Luck and Ethel Flood of Oxford had a narrow escape, Sunday afternoon, while out driving, when they went down Lake street in Oxford, when they came near the white automobile belonging to Wm. H. Thomas, the tax collector of Oxford, which stood across the road. When the car was passing, Mr. Luck guided the horse from the orchard, but not without hitting a number of the trees and with much difficulty succeeded in getting back into the road. The horse was going so fast that it was unable to turn into the dooryard at Mr. Flood's.
A little further down the road the horse hit a stump and Mr. Luck was thrown out, the horse leaving the road and running for the lake where it was in the carriage. Joseph Davis happened to be nearby in a boat and rescued Miss Flood from her precarious position.
Mr. Luck fell on his head and was in a dazed condition, but soon recovered. The horse was badly frightened and ran in the carriage. Joseph Davis happened to be nearby in a boat and rescued Miss Flood from her precarious position.
The horse was a good roader and was not in the habit of being afraid of automobiles, and had been owned by Mr. Luck for the past six months.

Poultry House Dedication.
More than twenty couples gathered at the home of John M. Wood last Friday night, Oct. 13, and enjoyed a regular old-fashioned dance in the new poultry house recently built in the rear of his farm. So far as we know this is the first time a hen residence has been in the first time a public acknowledgment in this manner; however Mr. Wood presented an order of twelve dances which included the old times, and used every effort to keep both old and young happy.
Good music was furnished by George Frost, violin, and Mrs. Lottie Crane, organ. Ice cream was served at intermission with Mrs. Wood as hostess.
Uncle Ephraim F. Wood, almost eighty-six years old, was an interested spectator and thoroughly enjoyed the fun as he brought back to memory many a dance he had attended more than half a century ago when tallow dips and a single "fiddler" graced the occasion.
There was a time when Uncle Ephraim would not pass over a challenge from any person on the dance floor, but in his advanced years he seems contented to play the wall flower and let the younger generations have fun away.

A Pleasant Gathering.
Last Thursday evening the vamps and folders of the shoe shop, together with their husbands, sweethearts and wives, enjoyed a very pleasant evening at the home of Mrs. Minnie McDaniels on Beal Street.
The piano solos by Mrs. Elsie Parsons and Mr. McDaniels, also the songs by the several of the company, were greatly appreciated by all. Games were played, the time honored roll-the-tin-platter being a prime favorite.
Refreshments of cocoa, coffee and the delicious cake which Mrs. McDaniels so famous for were served. Songs were received by each in the shape of tiny vamps with the date burnt into the leather. One of the pleasantest features of the evening was the presence of Mrs. Nellie Thayer of Pigeon Hill, who recently worked here.

Fred Perry has recently purchased a new piano.
Verne Webber, the teamster, has moved into the house he has bought at the corner of Cottage and Summer streets. He moved from the W. C. Stiles tenement on Fair street. His telephone is 114-5.
Among the Portland visitors with relatives and friends in this vicinity over Sunday were, Mrs. Don Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morse, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Faherty, Miss Lydon, Victor Partridge, John Lasselle, Roy Jordan.
The Rev. Frederick C. Lee will hold services at Christ Church, Episcopal, Oct. 29th 8 a. m. Holy Communion, 10:30 a. m. morning prayer with sermon followed by Holy Communion. 7 p. m. evening prayer with sermon.
E. P. Lorge on the O. C. Saitz farm has the foundation for the barn well along. The barn is to be 44x34 feet with cellar under it. The liner foundation is made of cement. One field of 12 acres has been plowed this fall.
Roger Hutchins of Beverly, Mass., formerly of Norway, is attending the World's Base Ball series at New York and Philadelphia as the guest of a Boston paper. This is particularly gratifying to his many Norway friends who selected votes for him this summer.

Mrs. Charlotte Randall Returned Home.
Ernest Randall, who is a special officer and also an employee of the Eaton Shoe Co., arrived at his home in Augusta a few minutes after midnight, Saturday, and found his wife had been gone about 15 minutes. The last person known to have seen Mrs. Randall was C. J. Dunn, a roomer at the house. As he was standing in the hallway he saw her fully dressed for the street and about to open the outside door and remarked "This is pretty late to be going out. Where are you going?" "I don't know," she replied as she opened the door and hurried down the steps.
Mrs. Randall is the sister of Frank Mann of Norway, and it was thought that possibly she might have left the city on the 3:11 a. m. train for Portland, and taken a Grand Trunk train from that city for Norway. Mr. Mann was reached by telephone late Sunday and it was learned that she had not reached there at that time.
Mrs. Randall had returned about three weeks ago from the Augusta General Hospital, where she underwent an operation for appendicitis, and had so far recovered that she was able to do the greater part of her own work. She repeatedly declared that she was "just as well as ever she was," but in spite of that it was noticed that she was "strongly" and at her husband's confidence that she must have been temporarily deranged when she left her home.
She went to the home of a friend, Mrs. Harry Wats, at Loudon Hill, Hallowell, and spent Sunday there. Her husband had communicated with and he went to Hallowell and brought her back to her home.
Mrs. Randall was the guest of her brother, Frank Mann, a few weeks the past summer.
An Enjoyable Event.
On Saturday Oct. 14, occurred one of the most pleasant events on record, as it was a perfect fall day.
Mrs. J. M. Abbott who lives at Horse Hill Farm, Pike Hill, was surprised to have her two children, eight grand children and eight great grand children spend the day with her. It had been many years since the family had been together.
At one o'clock twenty-nine people met in the large dining room where a bountiful dinner, furnished by the different families, was served, which was partaken of with much merriment especially when the birthday cake lighted with candles appeared, as it was the birthday of the youngest member present.
After each and everyone was full some felt like the little boy who cried because he could hold no more.
There was music on violin, organ and harmonica, and singing the little folks like were well to hear. The little folks sang their songs to grandma, and one of the party gave a eulogy.
Mrs. J. M. Abbott is in her eightieth year.
Those present were:
Mrs. Abbott.
Mr. and Mrs. Geo. G. Abbott, Highland Springs.
Mr. and Mrs. U. S. G. Abbott, Norway.
Mrs. C. P. Haak.
Mrs. C. Bradbury.
Mr. and Mrs. V. B. Marston, Rocky Dundee.
Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Abbott, Crockett Ridge.
Mrs. J. M. Abbott, family, Willow Brook Farm, Orono.
Ellis Black, Bangley Lake.
Edna S. Abbott, Waterford.
Stevens Abbott, Norway.
There was a time when Uncle Ephraim would not pass over a challenge from any person on the dance floor, but in his advanced years he seems contented to play the wall flower and let the younger generations have fun away.
T. C. poultry house in question: Is a substantial building 10x49 with seven foot posts of the open front and gable roof type, made to be divided into three pens which will take care of two hundred sheep. There is a sample room near Mr. Wood's plans are fully-carried out, he will have a neat, sanitary poultry plant well equipped for profitable business.
No birds will be placed in the new house until spring, so in the mean time it is not impossible that other daces may be given as the floor is well waxed and just the place for gatherings of this kind.

Mrs. Charlotte Randall Returned Home.
Ernest Randall, who is a special officer and also an employee of the Eaton Shoe Co., arrived at his home in Augusta a few minutes after midnight, Saturday, and found his wife had been gone about 15 minutes. The last person known to have seen Mrs. Randall was C. J. Dunn, a roomer at the house. As he was standing in the hallway he saw her fully dressed for the street and about to open the outside door and remarked "This is pretty late to be going out. Where are you going?" "I don't know," she replied as she opened the door and hurried down the steps.
Mrs. Randall is the sister of Frank Mann of Norway, and it was thought that possibly she might have left the city on the 3:11 a. m. train for Portland, and taken a Grand Trunk train from that city for Norway. Mr. Mann was reached by telephone late Sunday and it was learned that she had not reached there at that time.
Mrs. Randall had returned about three weeks ago from the Augusta General Hospital, where she underwent an operation for appendicitis, and had so far recovered that she was able to do the greater part of her own work. She repeatedly declared that she was "just as well as ever she was," but in spite of that it was noticed that she was "strongly" and at her husband's confidence that she must have been temporarily deranged when she left her home.

WOMEN'S WOES.

Norway Women Are Finding Relief at Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains and many aches from kidney ills. Sick kidneys cause more suffering than any other organ of the body. Keep the kidneys well and much suffering is saved. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that is endorsed by people in this locality.

Mrs. I. J. Monk, Myrtle St., South Paris, Me., says: "Often my back became so lame and sore that it was difficult for me to stoop or rise from a reclining position. I knew that my kidneys were at fault, and although I tried a number of kidney remedies, I was not helped. Finally I used Doan's Kidney Pills and found them to be a preparation of merit. After I had finished the contents of two boxes my trouble disappeared."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cts. Doan's Kidney Pills, Buffalo, N. Y. Sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and no other.

CHILDREN IN SCHOOL

Caution progress in their studies as they should if eye strain is sapping vitality from other parts of the body. Constant aches and pains, dull feeling and headaches distract the mind from their studies and are often responsible for a supposed lack of effort.

Bring the children to me for expert examination. It may save untold trouble.

October Tapestry.

By the mountain stands October
Like a weaver brown and old;
For his warp he uses sunbeams—
Tulle, and gold, and purple glow.
And the loom spread out before him
Is the forest dim and green,
While his shuttle whirles swiftly,
Is the wind of autumn keen.
For his wool he chooses colors—
Amethyst and blue and red,
In the place of smoke and shadows,
In the rays of early light.
Yvonne, satron, amber;
Faded tints the summer left,
Mauve and lilac and a shadow left.
All these tints October weaves.
All day long I hear the music
Of his shuttle and his loom;
All day long I watch him weaving
Till the stars begin to bloom.
And the figures on his loom
As each day they brighter grow,
Seem the forms and flower like faces
Of the fauns I used to know.

GIVES AID TO STRIKERS.

Sometimes liver, kidneys and bowels seem to go on a strike and refuse to work right. Then you need those pleasant little Pinks—breakers—Dr. King's New Life-Giver. They give them natural aid and gently compel proper action. Excellent health soon follows. Try them. 25c at The Noyes Drug Store. 40-43

Dairy Animals must be Contented.

Among the factors that the countryman who is engaged in the raising of dairy animals for growth or for product, finds of basic importance, are the following:

Individual preference on the part of the animal must be catered to if the best returns are secured. The animals must be satisfied and contented. The diet and the care of the animals are almost as pronounced as in the human family. Early stockmen, and particularly those handling large numbers of animals, ignored this factor; but under modern high pressure conditions, it is profitable practice to take the question of individuality into consideration. In the successful dairy each cow must be fed according to her individual needs and humor, because only a contented, satisfied animal gives the maximum milk flow.

The second fundamental is palatability. Experiments have conclusively proved that feed the animal likes will do it the most food. There must be variety in the ration and the feed must be palatable. NORWAY AND VICINITY

Wood-Doe.

A very quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mrs. T. H. Cade of Chocoma, N. H., Oct. 11th at 8 p. m.

The contracting parties being Mrs. Anna Wood formerly of Norway Lake and Eugene C. Doe of Maplewood.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. C. Gammon, using the single ring service. Only members of the family were present. The maid of honor was Ethel Hobbs and the best man was Jesse Glidden.

The bridal arch and bell were composed of autumn maple foliage and the bride carried a bouquet of the same.

The couple will live at Applecroft cottage on the Cade estate for the winter.

Jim Wright and C. E. Bradford went to Gilead, Friday, on several days' hunting trip.

Verne Ranger has been spending a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Ranger.

Frank Richardson and Mel. Sampson left Saturday for a few days' hunting trip at West Paris. They stopped at Press Bennett's camp.

HEBRON.

The wedding of Elizabeth Beatrice and Wilbur Merrill took place Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 11th at 2 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Ella Beatrice.

Rev. W. H. T. Book performed the ceremony, in the presence of only the immediate families. The bride was dressed in white.

The house was decorated with fall flowers and autumn leaves.

A reception followed from 2 to 5 at which the townspeople were present. The gifts were many and useful. Mr. and Mrs. Merrill will reside in Hebron, at the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. Levi Merrill.

Hebron 19; Bowdoin 0.

The Bowdoin 2nd aggregation was defeated Saturday at Hebron by the Hebron academy team by the decisive score of 19 to 0. The academy lads plainly outclassed the college in every stage of the game and, but for extreme penalties, would have rolled up a much larger score.

The Hebron team played great ball but penalties put them back many times when it looked as if a score was imminent. Donagan was the hero of the day although he shared honors with Captain Fuller in the big events of the day. The entire team played good, consistent ball. The summary:

Hebron	Bowdoin 2d
Fuller, rfb	rfb, Cooley
Campbell, Bartlett, Neddan, lhb	lhb, Merrill
Carl, fb	fb, Walker
Donagan, qb	qb, Bull
Brown, ls	ls, Wilson
Allen, lb	lb, Darks
Purinton, Bennett, lg	lg, Kodick
Richmond, c	c, Badger

High School Fair.

The annual fair of the N. H. S. Athletic Association was held at the Grange Hall, Friday, Oct. 13th, both afternoon and evening, and was a great success in every way.

The booths were artistically decorated with heliotrope and white, the colors of the Athletic Association, and altogether the hall presented a very pretty as well as dainty appearance.

In the center of the hall was a circular booth on which were arranged all kinds of fancy articles such as bags, collars, shirt holders, coat hangers, etc. This booth was presided over by Hazel Bicknell, Dorothy Noble, Ruth Cummings and Mildred Curtis.

The next attraction was the guessing table just back of the fancy booth and directly in front of the stage, and was in charge of Ora Howe and Lillian Hoyt. The guessing was on the number of yards of silk and cotton, the prevailing colors, heliotrope and white, contained in a bottle. The combination of silk and cotton made the guessing doubly difficult. The one guessing the nearest number of yards contained in the bottle received a duck and a set pillow of heliotrope and white made by one of the High school girls, and Guy Stevens was the lucky possessor of the pillow, having guessed the nearest 89 yards.

To the left of the guessing table and in the southeast corner of the hall was the candy table containing a wide variety and as is usually the case the booth proved very attractive and the sweet meats were disposed of all too quickly. The young ladies having this booth in charge were Marjorie Barker, Sara Inne, Alma Shepard and Irene Locke.

The conglomeration table on which were sold vegetables, fruit, suit cases and miscellaneous articles was in charge of Francis Sweet, Rupert Mixer, Charles Hobbs and Billy Leavitt.

To the right of the conglomeration booth, in the northwest corner of the hall was the mystery booth. This booth was arranged to represent a duck pen in the center of which the duck protruded its head, opening his mouth to receive the patron's money, closing it again and withdrawing its head into the pen only to reappear with a mysterious package.

This was a very novel method of disposing of the mysterious packages and the decorators deserve great credit. The booth was in charge of Helen Bangs, Eula Bicknell, Marion Haskell and Clara Shepard.

The apron table contained a good assortment of aprons and was well patronized. The booth was presided over by Beryl Knight and Azola Pike.

At 6:30 in the banquet hall below, a fine supper was served consisting of baked beans, salads, brown and white bread, pickles, pies, etc.

Those in charge of the supper were Bernice Nash, Ava Watson, Ava Andrews and Gladys Cameron. The waitresses were dressed in white and wore heliotrope bows.

Following the supper a fine musical program was rendered. The committee having this program in charge were Hazel Bicknell, Marjorie Barker and Helen Bangs. This in turn was followed by a social, which one and all agreed was one of the pleasantest social evenings among the younger set.

The fair was for the benefit of the athletic debt and was well patronized.

Grit for Poultry.

There is no more important commodity used in the poultry-yard than grit. It is the one thing necessary to enable the fowls to extract the maximum amount of nourishment from their food.

Unless the grain-foods fed to the fowls are properly masticated, a great amount of extra work is thrown upon the digestive organs and then such organs become debilitated through this overwork.

A fowl's general health and the number of eggs it produces are governed to a great extent by the amount of grit available. Well supplied with suitable grit, such as crushed flint and oyster-shells, the fowl is able to turn to the best account his food as it consumes.

On the other hand a deficiency of grit will account for indigestion, and consequently the nourishment necessary to the proper building up of body tissue and nourishment of the ovary will be lacking; the bird will mope about, looking out of sorts, and no eggs will be laid.

Grit to the fowl is as important as the teeth to the grinding mill—it is the means whereby the hard grain is pulverized and its juices pass through the digestive organ (commonly called the gizzard) into the blood.

Two ailments that fowls are subject to, namely, weakness and going light, are often traceable to a lack of sharp grit.

The fowls are unable through lack of necessary materials to grind and digest the food supplied, insufficient nourishment for building up the body tissue is the result.

The work the gizzard should perform with the aid of grit will, in the absence of grit, be thrown more or less upon the less muscular organs of digestion and such organs being unable to digest hard grain, will break down under the strain imposed upon them and will become diseased; the fowls will become emaciated and light and go weak in the legs—in other words the birds will appear consumptive.

But apart from assisting the fowls to properly digest their food, grit contains iron, lime and other mineral matter which act beneficially upon the system.

Both limestone and ironstone are valuable—the former providing bone and shell-forming elements and the latter serving as a source of iron. Oyster-shells crushed to the size of split peas, may be used where limestone grit is not available; and when ironstone grit is not available, crushed flint may be used. When it is necessary to give the fowls iron, this can be supplied in the form of iron sulphate added to the drinking water, a piece the size of a common marble being placed in a quart of water. DOCTORS FAILED TO HELP HER

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Pound, Wis.—"I am glad to announce that I have been cured of dyspepsia and female troubles by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had been troubled with both for fourteen years and consulted different doctors, but failed to get any relief. After using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier I can say I am a well woman. I can't find words to express my thanks for the good your medicine has done me. You may publish this if you wish."

Mrs. GERMAN SLERH, Pound, Wis.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills, and suffering women owe it to themselves to at least give this medicine a trial. Proof is abundant that it has cured thousands of others, and why should it not cure you?

If you want special advice write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for it. It is free and always helpful.

SOUTH WOODSTOCK.

Ella Sanborn was at home over Sunday.

G. W. Q. Perham and family made a trip to Turner, Lewiston and Poland Spring.

Ethlyn Davis spent the day recently with Mr. and Mrs. Perley Ford at Mechanic Falls.

E. B. Davis sold his apples to R. L. Cummings and G. W. Perham to W. M. Carr of New Hampshire—Lake Umbagog.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Curtis of Portland and Mrs. Ethlyn Smith of Massachusetts called on friends and relatives in the place Oct. 8.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Davis and Elis spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Dan Davis and at the house of the husband at Wesley Ring's in the evening. Between 80 and 90 were present. A bountiful supper of baked beans and brown bread was served, and singing and games were enjoyed. Mr. Ring is a hustler and will have about 600 bushels of corn this year.

About 40 gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Andrews to give their daughter Eva a shower, which was a complete surprise to her. A great of candy and apples was served and the evening was passed with singing and instrumental music. These presents were, left as tokens of friendship and esteem:

Mail Pouches.

Uncle Sam has 28 different kinds of mail bags in service, and they range in cost from 22 cents to $2,156 each. There are mail pouches for almost every conceivable use, and you can ship almost anything that comes to mind, with the postal regulations with a minimum of loss and breakage.

Probably the most peculiar mail bag is the one arranged for carrying bees. Sending bees by mail was a difficult operation before the "bee bag" was adopted. Usually the bees arrived at their destination dead or so exhausted that they were of little use. Now these little honey makers can be shipped by mail several thousand miles in the "bee bag" without suffering and can obtain air and also a good supply of food during their transit.

Mail bags are made of various materials. The cheapest are of cotton and the most costly of leather. Those used on fast express are reinforced with metal so they can be flung from fast moving trains without damage. Even then these bags or "catcher pouches," do not last more than a year and a half, while some of the cotton bags used for the work will remain in service upward of ten years.

In parts of the west, where the mail must be carried for many miles on horseback, special pouches are in use for slinging over the animal's flanks. In the far frozen north special bags are made for sled transportation, and in the cities a bag in use for pneumatic tube service is made of a composition called "leatheroid."

The ordinary cotton mail bags are woven closely so that they are practically waterproof, and in the weave there are thirteen stripes of blue. Each country marks its own mail pouches in some individual way, so that if one gets lost in a far country its ownership can be readily detected.

Nearly 65,000,000 mail bags are used each year by the whole country, and as they are being worn out all the time the supply has to be kept up. There are mail bag hospitals where tens of thousands of them go every week. One such mail bag hospital repairs upward of 5000 a day. These crippled bags are in all sorts of dilapidated conditions.

A railroad wreck may injure several hundreds or thousands, and these must all go to hospital before entering active life again. Christmas is responsible for much damage to the mail bags, owing to the hard service they get, and immediately after the midwinter holiday season several hundred thousand bags go to the hospitals.

Mail bags are the most traveled of all articles in use today. They are constantly moving, and it would be impossible to estimate the number of miles a bag ten years old has traveled.—Maine Woods.

True Education.

What is an education? It is the right development, in the right direction, all the time, of the whole being, for the purpose of giving one as much life as possible for himself, and to share with others.

This means that the whole person must be taken into account. Education means more than a one-sided development of one talent or ability. It means symmetrical and many sided growth.

Therefore there are not more interesting people in the world is because so many people are content with a one-sided development. They are willing to be musicians and nothing but musicians. They are willing to be lawyers and nothing but lawyers; teachers and nothing but teachers; ministers and nothing but ministers. And so their range of thinking, of conversation and of action is limited.

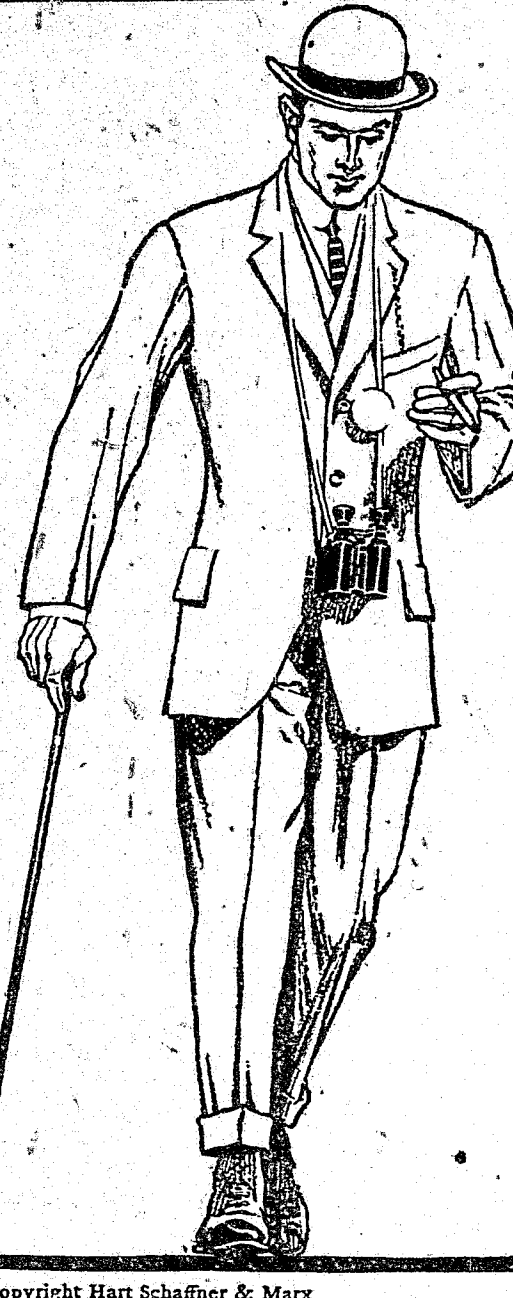

True education takes into account a whole being, with many different possibilities—a life which has in it the elements of surprise and an eagerness to know everything which can be known about a very great world in order to sympathize with and enter into the thoughts, so far as possible, of all sorts and conditions of men.—The Christian Herald.

WEST FRYEBURG.

Mrs. Lulu McIntire Farrington.
That "death loves a shining mark" is instanced in the recent removal from mortal scenes of the young wife of Willis E. Farrington of West Fryeburg, after several weeks of painful illness and a brief period of apparent improvement passed calmly to the rest that is immortal. A few years of happy companionship since coming from her home at Aronian Cottage, Kearsarge, Conn., N. H., now remain as memories to console those who loved her and enjoyed the bright and cheery amiability of her temperament. A lover of books and of Nature, and of the good and true religion with inherent refinement of her character the loss to those with whom she was associated is a sad one. To her young husband and the only brother, who survive her, the stroke is indeed keen and the sympathy for them is sincere. Many less close kindred in her native Kearsarge and in Fryeburg, and friends of later years feel a sense of personal loss in her removal.
Her death occurred on Oct. 4th at her late home. The funeral was held on Monday, Oct. 9th, at 1 p. m. The pastor of the Episcopal church of North Conway, N. H., Rev. Mr. Pearson, the pastor and friend of Mrs. Farrington's earlier years, officiated in the solemn ritual and at its close the casket was borne with the usual military honors to the family lot in the West Fryeburg cemetery for interment. A long train of carriages bearing kindred and friends to the committal ceremonies at the grave attested the regard and esteem of the departed friend and neighbor.
Mrs. Farrington was the daughter of Eugene and Ella (Clark) McIntire, both of whom died some years ago. Her age was 28 years and 6 months.

At the hall in East Conway the Harvest supper, Friday, the 20th, is eagerly looked forward to by many of the young people.
Mrs. Kate C. Hutchins is visiting among old friends, relatives and neighbors, and in particular her sons, Roger, Richard and Thomas.
The pack of corn and apples of the Baxter Co. must be something immense judging by the amount of trucking through the West Fryeburg road.
Mr. and Mrs. George Gordon of Whitefield, N. H., and Mrs. J. T. Boutwell visited relatives and friends in Boston and vicinity in the week just past.
Kate Hill of North Conway, N. H., is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. James Boutwell. Miss Hill is a nurse in the new Memorial hospital in North Conway, and is a sister of Mrs. Boutwell.
Edward Hall and wife are reported to have added to their family of three a pair of twins, boys, so near the neighborhood young people remember in the not far distant past Ed's harmonica accompaniments to their "tripping of the light fantastic" at their social gatherings in the kitchen dances will wait a wish for his good luck and prosperity in his addition to his responsibilities.
At the home of the parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Coleman, occurred on October 11th the marriage of Marion Irene Coleman to Herman Willard Merrill of Lovell. Rev. B. N. Stone of Fryeburg was the officiating clergyman and the ring service was used. Only nearest relatives were in attendance. The decorations were described as elegantly tasteful and the display of gifts beautiful and costly. The young couple will be at home in Lovell after Nov. 20th.

Ernest Greenleaf, who has been in the employ of the Paris Mfg. Co. in Crystal, N. H., since Aug. 1910, is at home during his father's stay in Portland.
P. O. Greenleaf, who is in Portland attending court as juror, called at the O. M. G. Hospital in Lewiston, Sunday, to see his son William, who was operated on, last week for appendicitis. Mr. Greenleaf said he made a call on his family at home, coming with his brother, E. M. Greenleaf, in his auto. Their mother, Mrs. E. O. Greenleaf, returned with them to Auburn to spend the winter with her children.
A good Portland Star Match is a thing of the past. Since the Match Trust took it over and good pine has become so valuable a cheaper quality of pine is being used. Fully one third the match break in lighting, and, too, the Trust has cut down the number of matches from 736 to the gross to 680, which is a reduction of 7% per cent, but the price per gross remains the same. The people have to use matches and pay more for an inferior article.

SOUTH WATERFORD.

Corn Shop Proposition.
A large meeting of citizens assembled on Monday evening at the town house to hear the report of the committee appointed at the previous meeting to investigate conditions favorable to the establishment of a corn packing shop in Waterford.

The several reports showed a subscription for capital stock of more than $5,000 and over 200 acres of corn by farmers of Waterford and vicinity. The main subject of discussion was concerning the location of the building of the company.

It was decided to direct the committee to continue their efforts for another week to fix upon a site for a corn factory that shall be acceptable to the company and not more than 1/2 mile from Waterford Flat. The meeting was adjourned to meet again next Monday evening at the town house.

W. K. Hamlin is enlarging the facilities for his lumber manufacturing business by the purchase and installation of a gas engine of 12 horse power. It is the "Alamo" of Hillsdale, Mich. Arthur C. Noyes of Falmouth was the engineer who set up the new engine.

Last Sunday was Rally Day at both Central and South churches. Pastor Sias' discourse at the afternoon service was spirited and outspoken on the subject of the duty and importance of attendance upon the regular services of the church and the Sunday school, a part of his sermon being especially addressed to the younger portion of the congregation. The Sunday school exercise was unusually interesting by singing of the choir, which accompanied the lessons of the day.
